Where Pigs Fly!

Henderson, TN, nestled in the heart of Chester County, offers a warm Southern welcome with its rich history and charming landscapes. Known for its friendly community spirit, Henderson is a destination where small-town charm meets modern comfort. Visitors can explore the legacy of Freed-Hardeman University, wander along the many trails of Chickasaw State Park, attend the annual Chester County BBQ Festival, enjoy the quaint shops and cafes of downtown, and much more. Embrace the slower pace of life by enjoying the beauty of the Chickasaw Golf Course immersing themselves in the cultural tapestry of Forty Cannons Winery and Mesa Trail Alpacas. No matter what you're seeking, Henderson and Chester County offer a unique blend of experiences for those eager to discover the heart of Tennessee.

CHICKASAW STATE PARK

Named for the Chickasaw Tribe who once inhabited West Tennessee and North Mississippi, Chickasaw State Park has 1,400 acres of land located along the border of Chester County. The park sits on some of the highest terrain in West Tennessee and has 1,280 recreational. Chickasaw State Park offers numerous activities including RV and cabin camping, hiking trails, cycle-friendly roads, rowboats and pedal boats on Lake Placid, and multiple events throughout the year.
